

Name film: Thoughts Out Of Season
Director: Sibi Sekar
Writer: Sibi Sekar
Producer: Sibi Sekar
Starring: Sibi Sekar, Ambika Sekar
Country: India
Time: 14 minutes

EXPERIMENTAL WORK

This film is something to behold, it's surreal with strange imagery and interesting sound mix. When I saw it for the first time I was feeling hollow, like the protagonists, wandering through space - lost souls in an infinite loop of life and contemplation, loss and grief.

Sabi Sekar made something more inclined to surrealism, you can get a grasp of it, you can only feel it. It gets under your skin with unsettling compositions and provoking sound-design. It's hard to just explain or review this film. This is an experience. Weird one. In the end you get these shivers. I loved that the imagery got under my skin, it made me feel butterflies in my stomach and in the end,

I felt lost.

In the beginning we see excerpts from Nietzsche's work, you can read it, but strange vignetting makes it hard. Also this vignetting is making you unsettled all the time, like something is wrong. Many times film alludes to the mask or the picture of Egyptian pharaohs, which is to symbolise endless humankind race to conceal emotions under the mask of contemplation. Also we can see a fan, but we hear helicopter.

I can say one thing, this film is to be seen, to be felt and to be experienced. 9/10.